

French scaffolders buys Beaver 84

French firm Altrad has bought scaffolding outfit Beaver 84 from Sheffield-based SIG for an undisclosed sum.

The sold company will be renamed Altrad Beaver 84 once the transaction is complete. With a turnover of about £25 million a year, Beaver 84 employs 150 people in its scaffolding-based business, which primarily sells products but also hires them out. The Essex-based company will continue to work out of its 11 sites across the country. Montpellier-based Altrad makes and sells scaffolding and other equipment as well as offering services around those products.
